May Term 2004

Term: May Term 2004

Course Section: JNST 000A-01: Work: What is it good for?

Facilitator: Elizabeth Haley and Jill Robinson

Location: Duke 300
Day/Time: MTThF 1:00-3:50pm

Term: May Term 2004

Course Section: JNST 000B-01: Body Work/Alternative Healing Practice

Facilitator: Valerie Gilman

Location: GYM
Day/Time: MTWTh 1:00-3:50pm

Description:

This course will be built according to the interests of the members of the seminar. We are living in a very rich time of cultural exchange. This has made it possible for us to have access to multiple philosophical approaches. Some of the practices that I imagine bringing into the mix are as follows:
* Yoga
* Massage (Swedish/Shiatsu)
* Acupressure/puncture
* Reiki
* Re-birthing
* Shakras
* Meditation
* Art Therapy
* Authentic movement

Term: May Term 2004

Course Section: JNST 000C-01: Sacred Quest

Facilitator: Nancy Weins-St. John
Sponsor: Kathy Ogren
Location: TBA
Day/Time: TBA

---

Term: May Term 2004

Course Section: JNST 000D-01: Culture and People of European Russia and Siberia

Facilitator: Cazzie Brown
Sponsor: A. Slaughter

Location: TBA
Day/Time: TBA

Description:

Travel Course

The travel course will be an intensive application of previously acquired knowledge. We will spend 7 days in Multicultural St. Petersburg, 5 days in Cosmopolitan Moscow, and 12 days in Stunning Siberia. Visits to markets, Russian Orthodox churches, historical places, ethnographic museums, and rural villages are some of the ways we will introduce ourselves to the breadth of Russia’s cultural diversity. We will interact with monks at a rejuvenated Buddhist monastery, go on a camping trip in the Siberian Taiga (dense forest) with students, and immerse ourselves in the steam of an old-fashioned Russian bathhouse. Accommodations include an old Tsar’s palace, a host family, a student dormitory, a boat on Lake Baikal, and sleeping trains on the Trans-Siberian Railroad.

---

Term: May Term 2004

Course Section: JNST 000E-01: Poetry and Cognition

Facilitator: Staff

Location: Larsen 224
Day/Time: MTWTh 1:00-3:50

---

Term: May Term 2004

Course Section: JNST 000F-01: WWI: History, Art and Literature

Facilitator: Gerrarda Costello
Sponsor: Jennifer Keene
Location: Larsen 230
Day/Time: MTThF 1:00-3:50

Description:
The seminar will explore the First World War in order to dive into the art and literature in context. How could one erect meaning from something that was incomprehensible? The old cultural paradigms were useless and empty; a cultural shift was being engendered by pain.

Term: May Term 2004

Course Section: JNST 000G-01: Community Study

Facilitator: Kathy Ogren

Location: Bekins 01
Day/Time: M 4-5pm

Term: May Term 2004

Course Section: JNST 000H-01: Leaping into Chaos: Huck Finn

Facilitator: Kimberly “Ellie” Jones
Sponsor: Kim Evans

Location: Larsen 222
Day/Time: MTWTh 1:00-3:50pm